

Germany Rent Prediction model

Hanieh Rajabpourkordasiabi
Olga Kravtsova

WHY?

over 50% of Germany population live
in rented apartment*

5,5 bln EUR
capital investment in residential apartment in Germany

* Federal Statistical Office of Germany (Destatis), 2021

DATA SOURCE

Immo
Scout24

kaggle

DATA PROCESSING

VARIABLES

VARIABLE 1 - CITY

MAIN IMPACT in the model

München - the most expensive city

Erzgebirgskreis - the cheapest city ever

VARIABLE 2 - LIVING SPACE

obvious correlation
with baserent

The most common flat size is 60-100
sqr m

VARIABLE 3 - PETS

"Yes" - 7%

"Negotiable" - 52%

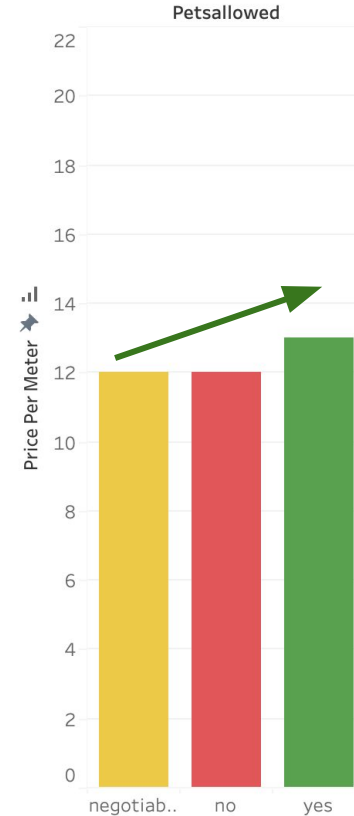

"No" - 41%

Allowing pets can increase price
slightly, BUT NOT IN BERLIN

BERLIN

REST OF GERMANY

VARIABLE 4 - KITCHEN

Kitchen - increases price by around 18%

In Berlin - by 38%

Increase in price per sqm by setting up kitchen, %

MODEL

real_price, EUR	predicted_price, EUR	Accuracy, %
1480	1310	89
855	827	97
884	836	95
1300	1315	99
1050	1048	100

81%

accuracy

INPUT

```
input_df=input_data()
predict(input_df)
```

What is the size of the apartment? Input a number of sqm: 65

How many rooms are in the apartment? Input a number of rooms: 2

What floor is it at? Input a number: 2

What energy efficiency class is it? Input a letter: b

Does it have a balcony? Say yes or no: yes

Does it have kitchen? Say yes or no: no

Does it have cellar? Say yes or no: no

Does it have lift? Say yes or no: yes

Does it have garden? Say yes or no: no

Are the pets allowed in this apartment? Input yes, no or negotiable: negotiable

What is the city? Please choose one of those in the list: Berlin

The monthly base rent will be: [[1146.29314298]] EUR

THANK YOU!